Another important step was taken yesterday in the efforts being made to prevent the importation of cholers into the United States. The French steam-ship line from Havre announced the discontinuance of the service to Havre, and will only run between this port and Cherbourg. Between Cherbourg and Havre there is no direct communication, either by roll or boat, the agents of the French Line say, and there can hardly be a possibility of the germs turking in Havre to get on board one of their ships. He heard and investigated a report that cholera did not attack persons working in and about copper smelters and factories. He found It to be true, and, acting on the suggestion, advised the wearing of a disc of pure copper against the pit of the stomach as a preventive, and experience and observation have since demonstrated the prophylactic qualities he attributed to copper. In the epidemic of 1848 these discs were worn with great success. In 1866, during the epidemic in Chicago, I tested them again, with perfect success, and although inclined to be sceptical, I am convinced that copper is a preventive of cholera. I came to this conclusion because in families members who wore the discs and used copper as prescribed did not take the discase, while those who did not wear the discs suffered from it. During that epidemic I was the first person to comhine copper and arsenic in treatment after the disease had run its first violent course and succumbed to campher. Hotel yesterday afternoon and asked him in regard to the campaign. Mr. White said:

"Both of the candidates for President have been before the country before, and on that account I do not think that personalities will play any part in this campaign. Mr. Cleveland is an honest man, but business men have no confidence in his ideas. On one other hand, they do have perfect confidence in President Harrison. They fear a change, and the success of the Democratic party would upset all business interests, and the prosperity of the country would be sarlously checked. The issues are direct, and each voter will do a great deal of thinking. All of the direful prophecies of the Democrats regarding relamity setzing the land in consequence of the passage of the McKinley bill have come to baught. Instead of that there is general prosperity. This is one of those arguments that the Democrats cannot meet successfully. The report of Labor Commissioner Peck ought to be worth thousands of votes to the Republicans. It has put the Democratic party squarely on the defensive, and it will be contracted the contract of the contractic party squarely on the defensive, and it will thousands of votes to the Republicans. It has put the Democratic party squarely on the defensive, and it will hold the party in that position until after election. There is nothing more injurious that could happen to it. This report proves what the Republicans have maintained at along, and what the Democrats have denied. While the Commissioner's report is confined to this State, it could be repeated throughout the country with equal force. The Commissioner has made a very clear and conservative recent. He did it as a duty, and on that account it is

SOUTH CAROLINA PRIMARY ELECTIONS. THE CONSEVATIVES MAKE LARGE GAINS, BUT

Charleston, S. C., Aug. 30 (Special).—Returns of the Democratic primary election from the interior of the State are late in coming in, and the actual result probably will not be known for several days. The Conservatives have undoubtedly made great gains all over the State, but it is doubtful if these will be sufficient to give them a majority in the State Convention. In Charleston County the Conservatives won vention. In Charleston County the Conservatives won a sweeping vierory, electing their State, county and Congressional ticket by a majority of over 2,500.
Brawley, candidate for Congress in the Ist District, will leave the acacoast with over 8,000 majority over 8tokes, the Aillance candidate. Stokes's vote in the country can hearly overcome this. Perguson, the Conservative hardly overcome this. Ferguson, the Conservative candidate for sheriff, against whom German citizens combined with reformers is elected by 1,5000 to 2,000 majority. Contrary to all expectations the election proved transcalls. proved peacable. The most intense interest was manifested, and the vote will be the largest since 1876. The Tillmanites claim the State, but their claims are disputed. The Conservatives have expecclaims are disputed. The Conservatives have expec-tations of getting sufficient strength in the State Con-vention, which nominates a Governor and Presi-dential electors, to prevent the packing of Third party electors on the Democratic ticket, of which there was some four in the event of an overwhelming Tillman victory. The Conservative victory in this city is being celebrated to night. It will be impossible to ascertain the Congressional vote for several days.

BERGEN COUNTY BREAKING THE RECORD.

"I have been travelling around the county somewhat," said Colonel C. I. Blauvelt, of Hackensack, to a reporter, "and everywhere I find activity among Republicans such as has never before been displayed, even during the most energetic campaigns led by Mr. Phelps."

This testimony of Colonel Blauvelt, who is preadent of the Republican County Lengue, is verified by the reports from individual clubs. On Monday evening there was a large meeting at Tenady, with Editor Fitzgersl, of Boston, and Colonel Blauvelt as speakers. Besides the large attendance of Tenady people, there was a delegation from the Lincoln Republican Club, of Borgen Fields. The enthusiasm manifested by the audience indicated that the audience was in lagmony with the speakers in their manner of presenting the Republican principles. John Hull
